

So long as you do not use fades, the small motors that you find in the animated deer are usually okay to run with LOR. It would probably be wise to connect the motor to it's own channel, and the lights on the deer to another channel. These motors wouldn't like being turned on and off all night, so you would be wise to leave them on at all times, and avoid stopping and starting them.