If a circuit appears to flicker during a fade, it could be the result of editing the timings of events inside of a fade. If you alter the timings inside of a fade, the fade will not be corrected to adjust for this. The workaround is that if you adjust the timing, you'll need to redo your fade.